DEFIED THE SUNDAY LAW

Proprietors of New York Candy Store Refuse to Close on Sunday.

Blotus Brothers, the proprietors of the New York candy store, on South Main street did not obey the mandate of the chief of police in regard to keeping closed on Sunday, and they were brought before Alderman Atkinson, of the Fourth ward, last evening. A warrant had been sworn out by Chief of Police McAndrew against the two, on charge of violating the Sunday laws by selling candy and cigars on the 12th of the month. One of the brothers was in New York at the time and the case was postponed, pending his arrival. The warrant was sworn out with the warrants issued against Alphonso Siriani and Mike Bonnett. These were fined $5 each and costs, which they paid on Sunday. Blotus Brothers were opened and a local clergyman who happened in the store asked the proprietor if he was selling goods. The answer was "Yes," and that he would continue to do so on every Sunday. He informed the clergyman that he defied the authorities and accordingly a second warrant was served on him for desecrating the Sabbath on the 19th of the month. Before the alderman, he pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs and he was given until 10 o'clock this morning to pay the fine.

AT THE FAIR.

Large Crowd of Columbia Boys Entertained Last Night—Will Close Tonight.

The Columbia boys entertained a large crowd in their fair last night. The hall was comfortable and the hour of round dancing, instead of the half-hour heretofore, proved a great attraction. This additional half-hour caused the going away with the usual programme. The Crystal Fire company, of Jersey, in their neat uniforms, were the guests last night and gained many admirers by their splendid appearance. Tonight will be the last night of the fair and the hall will, no doubt, be crowded. The door prize for the last two evenings and tonight is a handsome diamond ring. The holder of the winning ticket must be in the hall when the drawing takes place. If the holder fails to be present, numbers will be drawn from the box until the holder of a ticket is found. The fair has been a great success in a financial and social way and a banner night of the fair is looked for tonight, when the Columbia boys will bid farewell to their patrons. The ten dollars' worth of laundry and the twenty-five dollars in gold will be awarded tonight. The holder of the ticket offered to the lady selling the most chances in the twenty-five dollars in gold, will also be awarded this evening. There has been a spirited rivalry between the fair canvassers and the result will be awaited with considerable interest. Tonight there will also be an hour of round dancing and no programme.

Without Medicine.

Quod Food Will Cure Disease.

A good natural food that will correct constipation is a valuable thing. Grape Nuts has that reputation among those that know.

A lady writes from San Pedro, Calif., that after suffering a long time from indigestion and irregular bowels she changed her food and used Grape Nuts regularly. She says she immediately began to improve and in a short time was entirely well. Commenting further she says, "The only fault I find with it is that it is so good I want to eat it all the time."

Please omit my name but I will answer any letters if stamped envelope is enclosed." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

DAY'S SPLENDID WORK.

A Rare Evening of Humorous Story Telling and Quaint Characterizations.

The keen appreciation of wit and humor by the American people and their fondness for a capital story teller was illustrated anew last night when a splendid audience made merry over the stories capably told by Elias Day, the characterist; when they smiled and felt pleased with his humor and when they admired and applauded his delineations, mostly humorous, which gave a living reality and force to the characters he reproduced.

It was a rare evening of enjoyment and there was not a person who left the Grand last night that was not of the opinion that Mr. Day was not only a clever young man, but by far the cleverest of his line that has ever visited this place. He was preceded with generous praise from those who had witnessed his work in other places, but he was not over-rated. Whatever expectations were raised were fully realized, and if Mr. Day ever cares to return to Carbondale he can expect to receive the assurance of a reception of even greater warmth than greeted him last night.

The most conspicuous feature of Mr. Day's work is the fidelity and naturalness with which he portrays the characters of every-day life. His characters are not fictitious or impossible. They are within the acquaintance of everybody; they are persons who are seen in every community, who are familiar to everybody and whose characteristics are well known. So last night it was like greeting old acquaintances as Mr. Day introduced his characters and presented them with such rare fidelity. The cross-roads grocery store, the Hebrew, the Southern colored, the professor of classical music and the Irishman were among the characters he presented. President Cleveland, in a strikingly portrayed. It was not all humor that Mr. Day provides, there was just enough pathos in his descriptions and characterizations to indicate that he is not one-sided by any means and that in his make-up there is real ability. This number was perhaps the most satisfactory in the Smith-Singer course.

MUNICIPAL WATER.

Brooklyn Street Residents Converted by the Vast Amount of Water They Receive—Another Flood.

Residents of Brooklyn street in the vicinity of Brooklyn bridge have all been converted into strong municipal water men. Their conversion comes through force of circumstances. They believe that the residents of this city should not pay exorbitant rates to the Consolidated Water company when enough water can be procured in their cellars and on the streets in their section after a heavy rain fall and ice blockade to supply all Carbondale with water for at least six months. The cellar of T. Gilbois, Mechanic, Toolmaker, and of J. McLaughlin, others are filled to a depth of over five feet as the result of the heavy downpour of rain Tuesday night. Yesterday morning the water was running over the bridge on the streets and through yards to a considerable distance along the bridge and for a time it was feared that the bridge would be carried away and much more damage caused. The street leading to the bridge has been covered by a stream of water several inches in depth and the yards below the bridge are filled with water. The small stream in the river usually seen is now a veritable roaring torrent. Occasionally a quantity of ice floats down and with a resounding crash weakens to no little extent the supporting beams of the frame bridge. The large cakes of ice thus carried down the river over the road in the nearby yards. Commissioner Killen worked all day with several men to disrupt the blockade and partly succeeded. At 3 o'clock a large blockade of ice was noticed at the side of the Gilbois store and Killen used a pick of giant powder to remove it. When the ignited fuse reached the powder an explosion occurred which was plainly heard at a distance. The ice was broken in pieces from the top sections and the particles of ice rained down on the persons in the vicinity and on the houses. The powder was not strong enough to accomplish all that was expected of it. It completely overturned the vast ice flow but it again took up a position a few feet further down the stream. This is the third time this season that considerable damage has been caused by an overflow of water and the sufferers are justly indignant and threaten to make things warm for the city or the D. & H. company. Each claims that the other is responsible for the condition of things. Court may have to decide the matter as damage suits will be brought by the victims. Crowds viewed the scene yesterday afternoon.

To Improve Property.

The owners of the old Flynn building, corner of South Main street and Eighth avenue are contemplating extensive changes in the interior. It will be fitted up with all modern improvements. It has been in disuse for some time but the owners now intend booming it and securing tenants for it. It is probable that the entire three floors will be divided into spacious apartments.

Progressing Rapidly.

Work on the building of Chief of Police McAndrew's, on Main street, is progressing rapidly. The masons are now engaged in erecting the second story.

An Ice House.

W. J. Roberts is having a new ice house erected in the rear of his meat market on Belmont street for the storage of ice for the summer months.

Hospital Notes.

Martin Jordan, a patient in Emergency hospital, was in a very weak condition last night. Since his being shot by Patrick McNulty, Jordan has put up a desperate battle against death, but the odds are now against his recovering. His condition has been very critical for the last few days. The condition of Mrs. Patrick Timlin of Jersey, who was operated upon last week in Wheeler's hospital, is greatly improved. A rapid recovery in her case is looked for.

ALDERMAN'S COURT.

Two Women Defendants in Cases Tried in Alderman Morrison's Court—Both Held in Bail.

Mrs. William Martin was the defendant in a case in Alderman Morrison's court yesterday. She was charged with embezzlement by the Boston Tea company of Scranton. Attorney Harry Butler appeared for the defendant and Attorney Frank Monaghan represented the plaintiff. By the testimony of several witnesses it was shown that Mrs. Martin had received money from persons in payment for tea and she had failed to turn it over to the company, hence the suit. Mrs. Martin was the head of a club consisting of twelve members who gave monthly orders for tea, coffee, etc., and each month one of the members received a premium. Several members who had not secured their premium at the proper date started to make an investigation. It was then found that she had failed to turn the money in to its proper course. She was held in $200 bail for her appearance at court. A Mrs. McCue of Powder road, was brought before the alderman on the charge of larceny by bailie. She had purchased a quantity of goods from the Gately, Fitzgerald company and agreed to pay for them on the installment plan on a certain amount each month. She failed to live up to the terms of the contract and refused to return the goods to the company. She was held in $200 bail for her appearance in court.

Amusement Notes.

Culhane, Chace & Weston's minstrels will be the attraction at the Grand opera house on Saturday afternoon and evening. The company numbers 30 minstrel stars, headed by William H. Chace, the well known end man and comedian. Each and every act and feature will be brand new, among the novelties being "Carmen," the wonderful hoop roller. He was the feature at Hammerstein's Victoria theatre, N. Y., last winter. The brothers, "Many," direct from The Palace, London, Eng. They do a comedy acrobatic act, entitled, "Scenes in a Restaurant." A magnificent scenic first part. A strong singing contingent and a superb orchestra of 12 men furnish the music. One night only. Seats now on sale at Reynolds' drug store. Prices 10, 20 and 30 cents.

Late Street Cars.

Street cars are being run through this city as late as 7 o'clock, starting last night. One of the imported crabs, bound in Mayfield and every night after their day's work they are followed through the Main street of that borough by a crowd of lads with their incessant yelling, making life miserable for a time at least for the passengers. The crowd does not break ranks until the crew enters the boarding house. As yet there has been no break in the boycott. The strikers' headquarters here has been closed as all the men on strike from this section are working at other occupations.

Masquerade Ball.

The Germania masquerade ball in Burke's hall was up to the usual standard set by that jolly organization. The maskers had most excellent get ups. The scene in the hall was the cause of much merriment and when the unmasking hour came there was a rush to see who's who. Everybody had a good time. If they did not it was their own fault and not that of the Germania's who made everybody feel right to home.

Working Overtime.

The Carbondale weaving mill is working considerable overtime of late owing to the vast amount of silk they have been called upon to weave. The mill has been in operation for over a year and has never yet experienced any slack in work. A number of the employees work until 8:30 in the evening and on Saturday the mill does not close down until 10:30, while formerly it closed down at 2:30.

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.

Francis McCarty, son of Lyman McCarty, of Gardner's Yard, was arrested yesterday at the instance of the directors of the Cemetery association for cutting down and stealing a cedar shrub a day or two before Christmas day. The stealing of flowers and shrubs from the cemetery has been a source of annoyance for several years past and it has become necessary for the association to make an example of the offenders. The present suit was brought on the sworn evidence of a young lad named Gavin who swore that McCarty, accompanied by his two brothers, cut down the tree and afterwards sold it to him. He, however, was unaware at the time he bought it that the tree had been taken from the cemetery. At the hearing last night the McCarty boy and his two brothers not only contradicted the Gavin boy's statement but swore that he was the one that committed the offense. Other witnesses were sworn and the result was that McCarty was discharged and the Gavin boy arrested and charged with the crime. Justice of the Peace Hills, after hearing the evidence, laid the case over until May 14, when the directors hold their annual meeting. As the owner of the lot from which the shrub was taken will be satisfied if the shrub is replaced and the costs of the case paid it is probable the case will not be proceeded further with if this is done before the directors meet. It is hoped that this will be a sufficient warning to deter other boys from committing similar offenses. The penalty in such cases is a very severe one.

Pilger was suspected, and yesterday was caught in the act of extracting money from the safe, by Mr. Spitz, who was watching him through an open transom. A warrant was immediately sworn out for Pilger's arrest and he was taken before Justice of the Peace Thompson, by Constable B. J. Goughan. From the evidence produced the justice committed him to the county jail for a further hearing today. Spitz says Pilger has been in his employ since Nov. 10, and came from New York, in answer to an advertisement which he had inserted in one of the New York papers. The many friends of John R.
